

Leaders are Readers

Top Ten Books Camp Staff Should Read

God Wrote a Book [James MacDonald]

Because God is the author of the Bible, it is the most important book ever written. And if leaders are readers, you should make sure you read a book about the Bible.

But lots of people doubt that God is the author of the Bible. Perhaps you have wondered if you've been brain-washed about it. Do Christians just believe the Bible is true because the Bible says it's true? How do you answer friends who don't believe the Bible?

In this book James MacDonald provides personalized, accurate responses to these and other legitimate questions. He clarifies where the Bible came from and why you can trust what it says. He shares what the Bible can do for you and how you can apply it to daily life.

How do you develop personal conviction about the Bible instead of just imitating your parents or camp directors?
